panies is included the Potomac Electric Power Company.

The gross income is given as $5,213,555.47 and the surplus income as $1,016,886.28. Included in the disposition of this surplus is $425,000 in payment of 5 per cent dividend on preferred stock; $455,000 in payment of 7 per cent dividend on common stock and $15,527.44 to conductors and motormen under the company's profit sharing plan. The amount of $105,400 is listed as "sinking fund requirements—Potomac Electric Power Company."

Explains Increase. In explanation of the increased gross earnings for 1915, the report says: "With a Federal budget larger than ever by $24,000,000, with official personnel materially augmented during the year, and with the population of the District increased by approximately 5,00, one could scarcely anticipate retrogression, even in the face of hard times largely superincuced by conditions arising from superincuced by conditions arising from the European war."

Referring to the activities of the litney lines last year the report states: "The litney unfoled, like the butterfly, had its little day, and passed on, demonstrating once more the fact that no vehicular transportation can maintain a reasonable route and headway, even without regulation, for a 5-cent fare. Even the so-called herdic line's succumbed after a struggle of years, though it traversed an ideal route, through one of the best sections of the city."

Larger Expenditures.

The report shows larger expenditures track and roadway, extension of the suburban express car service, improved facilities for repainting cars, and im-facilities for repainting cars, and improvement in rolling stock.

The report atates that the Public Utilities Commission approved the issue of $353,000 of debenture bonds for the Washington Railway and Electric Company of the $694,000 asked for and appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the District to gain authorization for the remainder. Subsequently the commission authorized the issue of $13,500 additional of the bonds. The commission approved the issue of $79,500 of the debenture bonds out of a total of $495,000 asked for the Potomac Electric Power Company, and an appeal from the refusal also was taken to the Supreme Court of the District, it is stated.

Neither Appeal Issued.

Neither Appeal Issued. Neither of these appeals has been heard from, and none of the bonds have yet been issued. During the year the cars of the system traveled 10,701,755 miles, carried 86,482,956 passengers, of which 29,378,525 rode on free transfers. The average fare per pay passenger was 4.291 cents, and the average for all passengers was 3.252 cents.

3.252 cents.
Safety first efforts are described in the roort on the school of instruction. Accidents are studied, both by stereop-Accidents are studied, both by street ticon and motion pictures, and it is demonstrated how observance of the company's rules would have prevented these. # FLEET, OFFICER SAYS

LONDON, June 6 .- "Only a phenome nai piece of luck saved the German high seas fleet from utter destruction in the North Sea fight," a senior of ficer, commanding one of the British cruisers that played an important role in the engagement, told the United Press teday.

"The Germans had all the advantage they could have wanted," said the Brit-ish commander. "It was blowing hard in their direction. The sun was at our back, silhouetting all our ships and making splendid targets for the German gunrers.

"The firing began at 20,00) yards. We engaged five German battle cruisers whose names we couldn't make out. It was hot fighting from the start, with the water full of bursting shells. I could see our shells hitting the German battle german was shell to be described by the could see our shells hitting the German battle german was shell to be described by the could see our shells hitting the German battle grant battle german battle grant battle german battle grant battle mans and plainly doing great damage.

Had Cut Off Germans.

"Our striteg c plan was to cut the Germans off from their base. We had accomplished this when the mist began secting, finally giving the Germans a chance to escape. Our fire was so heavy they were more than anxious to quit. Only two of their battle cruisers were still firing when the mist settled. All that was left for us then was to chase them through the night. When daylight broke they had disappeared.

"Our men entered the battle fearlessly and fought with wonderful coolness throughout. One shell after another struck our vessels, but failed to break the spirit of the men. A bursting shell hit a funnel of one of our first-line vessels. Men rushing to remove the debris found still another shell, as yet unexploded. They quietly dumped it into the sea.

"The big super-dreadnaught Warspite, which the Germans claim they sank, rushed into the engagement disabled, with a broken propeller. She circled around helplessly under a horrible enemy fire. The other British ships came to her aid and engaged the Germans shelling her. She finally escaped under their protective fire. Her loss in men was small and her damage is easily repairable.

"The Germans certainly enjoyed great attling, finally giving the Germans a

The Germans certainly enjoyed great luck in getting away after the British had paid for their victory with lives and ships. We are more than anxious to repeat the engagement under similar circumstances, trusting that the luck will not all go one way the next time. I am certain, however, that the enemy's losses were heavier than ours."

Important Feature.

It is the intention of the officials in charge of the parade to make this divisior, one of the most important featrict Volunteers or the regular army, navy or marine corps.

In addition to the members of the legion, Colonel Simms has issued an invitation to the former members of every military organization in the District to participate. Delegations from the Washington Light Infantry, the Corcoran Cadets, the National Riffer, and meny other organizations will march with the escort with their old comrades.

It is to be the endeavor of the heads of this section of the parade to make it as impressive as possible by marshaling in it every member of the civilian riffe clubs of the District.

Would March in Rode

Would March in Body.

The members of the clubs will, of course, be eligible to march with their departments or their business secdepartments or their business sections. It is the desire of those in charge, however, that the rific clubmen shall all be in this one section so that the people of Washington can see just how far the spirit of preparedness has actually gone.

A meeting will be held at the Board of Trade tomorrow afternoon, when complete arrangements for the preparedness section will be made.

Preliminary arrangements and an-Preliminary arrangements and an-nouncements were made yesterday at a meeting of the executive council of the Military Service Legion, which had volunteered its services to the parade officials.
